Speak Softly, Carry a Big Stick

Nobody scores as often as Jen Adams, Maryland's quiet Aussie midfielder

BY RICHARD DEITSCH

"Jen has so many moves and shots, you can't just do one thing to stop her," says Galt.

Adams was the subject of a feature in Sports Illustrated on May 14, 2001.

Numerous Terps including many All-Americans came back for the 2003 Alumni Game.

In January of 2000, Maryland was invited to the White House to meet with First Lady Hillary Rodham Clinton (above) and President Bill Clinton (right).

Terps On The ACC 50th TEAM

The 2002-2003 athletics year is a special one in Atlantic Coast Conference history as the league marked its 50th anniversary. As part of the golden celebration, the conference named all-time teams from each of the sports it sponsors. The ACC has a short but rich history in women's lacrosse as over half (11) of the 21 NCAA championships have been won by current ACC schools – with nine of these being won by Maryland. Needless to say, when the list of the ACC's 55 all-time best players was released at the end of 2002, it was dotted with Terrapins. Sixty percent of the team – or a total of 33 players – were from the University of Maryland, a reflection as strong as any of the tradition that is Maryland lacrosse.

Terps At The WORLD CUP

The United States National Team captured the 2001 World Cup with a roster featuring eight former Terps.

Laura Warren celebrates a goal for the Welsh National Team.

The 2001 International Federation of Women's Lacrosse Associations' World Cup was played in High Wycombe, England, but that didn't stop the event from having a distinctive Maryland stamp.

At the championships, which were won by the United States, a total of 14 former and current Terrapin lacrosse players represented their respective countries. The U.S. team featured eight Terps among its 16 players including Kelly Amonte-Hiller (1996), Erin Brown (1990), Quinn Carney (2001), Randall Flynn (1997), Christie Jenkins (2000), Kristin Sommar (2000), Michele Uhlfelder (1991) and Jess Wilk (1990). In addition, five members of the Australian national team can claim they played at Maryland. Among them were former players Jen Adams (2001), Trish Adams, Sarah Forbes (1997), Courtney Hobbs (2002) and Sascha Newmarch (1998). Finally, Laura Warren, who joined the Terps last season, was a starting attacker for the Welsh team.

As mentioned previously, the title was taken home by the Americans, but it took a come-from-behind effort to beat the Aussies, 14-8, in the championship game. The 2-0 deficit that the U.S.A. dug itself out of was the only time that it trailed in the tourney.

If excellence is a measure of accomplishment, her eight titles at Maryland speak volumes.

If excellence is a measure of character, the lives she touches and the student-athletes she molds represent an immeasurable impact on the people around her.

If excellence is a way to describe those who are admired by their athletes, revered by their peers, and respected by their community, then Maryland head women's lacrosse coach Cindy Timchal celebrates nothing less than 12 years of excellence at the University of Maryland.

When Timchal arrived in College Park, the Maryland women's lacrosse program stood at a 201-69-3 (a .736 winning percentage) all-time. Under Timchal's guidance, the Terps have taken a what was already a strong program and elevated it to one that has since notched an astounding record of 203-22 (.902), turning Maryland into the winningest Division I women's lacrosse team ever. The Terps are now 404-91-3 (.814) in 29 years of lacrosse.

Beyond the numbers, though, Timchal has done her part to revolutionize the sport of women's lacrosse. In recent years, Timchal has brought some of the most influential names in lacrosse through College Park, including former assistant Gary Gait, and more recently former Terp stars Cathy Nelson and Jen Adams. Eight years ago, she added another dimension to the learning process at Maryland as she brought aboard the wisdom of California-based spiritual advisor and author Dr. Jerry Lynch to enrich the minds of her student-athletes. That decision has complemented the already high level of physical training it takes to excel at the Division I level and is a trend that has caught on throughout the world of sports.

In just one season since her arrival has Timchal more than three games in any one season and included in the mix are the spectacular undefeated seasons of 1996 (19-0), 1999 (21-0) and 2001 (23-0). She has taken her Terrapin teams to the NCAA finals in 11 of the past 13 years at one point winning an unprecedented seven-straight national titles.

In winning their seventh-straight national title under Timchal's watch, the Terps posted what currently stands as the third-longest championship streak in NCAA history. In addition, it puts Timchal in the company of coaching legends like UCLA's John Wooden who won seven straight titles with the UCLA men's basketball program from 1967-73.

While the 2001 season marked the start of her second decade of coaching at Maryland, Timchal's coaching career got its start at Northwestern in 1982. During her nine-year tenure with the Wildcats, she compiled a 76-40 record (.655) and took her team to five NCAA appearances. While at Northwestern, Timchal made it as far as the quarterfinals, earning appearances in the NCAA Tournament in 1984, '86, '87, and '88. In 1991, she came to the College Park to continue the already long-standing tradition of Terrapin lacrosse.

Prior to '91, the Terrapins' last title had come in 1986 under head coach Sue Tyler, but the Maryland dynasty began to re-emerge almost immediately under Timchal's guidance. Timchal's first year saw a 14-3 record and a trip to the NCAA finals. By 1992, the lacrosse world knew something big was about to happen at Maryland. Despite being at a place with a rich history in both men's and women's lacrosse, few could have predicted that a dynasty so powerful was on the horizon. With a 14-1 record, the Terrapins took the 1992 national title — just the third time in Maryland school history.

The 1993 season would bring a heartbreaking 7-6 loss to the Princeton Tigers in the NCAA semifinals. The following year led to further frustration with the Tigers, as a 10-7 decision left the Terrapins just one win away from hoisting the trophy again. In 1995, however, Timchal and the Terps would turn the tables on the competition.

After the three-goal loss to Princeton in 1994, the Terps would go on to win 50 straight games. Timchal led the 1995 squad to a 17-0 run ending in a 13-5 defeat of Princeton for the NCAA title. Maryland would go undefeated again in 1996, finishing with a 19-0 record and a 10-5 decision over ACC rival Virginia to take home the hardware.

The 1997 season would begin with Timchal's squad wearing the label of back-to-back NCAA champions. A 21-1 record would see the Terps begin '98 as the three-time defending national champions, and come one goal short of putting together their third consecutive undefeated season.

The dynasty continued throughout the 1998 season despite an 0-2 start following losses to Duke and North Carolina. That season finished the same way as the previous three, however, with Timchal's Terrapins being crowned the NCAA champions once again, this time behind an 11-5 win over Virginia.

In 1999, the Terrapins were no less than the personification of a finely-tuned program from top to bottom. Timchal led Maryland to a 21-0 season, the team's fifth-straight title. The 2000 season saw Maryland stumble momentarily out of the gate with an overtime loss at North Carolina, but the "machine" could not be stopped as the Terps went on to win their final 20 en route to their sixth title in a row.

The 2001 season may have been Timchal's finest of all her seasons as a head coach. The Terrapins played one of — if not the – toughest schedule in women's lacrosse and were every team's target as the one to beat. Despite the attention, the Terps again ran through the schedule without a blemish and ultimately beat Georgetown in a gut-wrenching title game to finish 23-0. The 23 wins are most ever by a team in a single season.

Now looking to start a new streak of championships, Timchal will enter 2003 with some of the most impressive coaching numbers already under her belt. Her .818 career winning percentage places her fifth on the list of all-time women's lacrosse coaches. She enters this season tied for first on the list of all-time games won with 279 while possessing 38 less losses than William & Smith's Pat Genovese, the coach she is tied with.

Individually, her athletes have earned countless accolades and awards. Last season, Maryland had one first team All-Americans making it 16 in the last five years. Current assistant Jen Adams set the all-time collegiate scoring mark while leading the NCAA in that category. Adams also became the first-ever winner of the Tewaaraton Trophy, which recognizes the top collegiate men's and women's player in the country. In 1996, Kelly Amonte became the Terps' first four-time All-American, including first-team honors in 1995 and 1996.

A total of 42 Terrapins have earned All-American recognition under Timchal including Amonte's four, (1993-96), and three each for Betsy Elder (1992-94), Sarah Forbes (1995-97), Laura Harmon (1993-95), Sascha Newmarch (1996-98) and Adams (1999-2001). Adams' third-consecutive selection as Player of the Year in 2000 marked the 10th time one of Timchal's players have earned National Player of the Year honors, including Amonte, who was named the 1996 NCAA Division I Most Valuable Player. Nationally, 15 of Timchal's players have played on the U.S. Developmental team and eight were members of the most recent championship World Cup team, a total that made up half of the 2001 team's roster.

Timchal not only produces champions on the field, but also in the classroom. Last season, Annie Morris and Julie Shank earned Academic All-American status while just two years ago, Jen Adams was named GTE/CoSida Academic All-American of the Year (2000). In 1998, Sascha Newmarch earned GTE/CoSIDA Academic All-American. Betsy Elder was a two-time Academic All-American in 1993-94, while Theresa Ingram and Jamie Brodsky earned honors in 1994 and 1996, respectively.

As impressive as the honors under Timchal are, the most telling of all her accomplishments as a coach may be what has become of some of her former players. Timchal has created somewhat of a legacy of creating coaches indirectly through her coaching. Among the former players who have gone on to coach at the collegiate level are Maureen Scott Dupack (1994 grad; current coach at American University), Kelly Amonte-Hiller (1996 grad; current head coach at Northwestern), Randall Goldsborough-Flynn (1996 grad; current head coach at Bucknell), Theresa Ingram (1994 grad; current coach at Brown), Kerstin Kimel (1993 grad; current head coach at Duke), Courtney Martinez-Conner (2001 grad; current Mount Saint Mary's head coach), Karen McCrate (1996 grad; coach of 2001 NCAA D-II Champion C.W. Post), and Michelle Uhlfelder (1991 grad; current Stanford head coach). Timchal also mentored Dartmouth head coach Amy Patton at Unionville (Pa.) High School and has several former players serving as assistants at other schools including Quinn Carney (Stanford), Missy Holmes (Princeton), Meg McNamara (Stony Brook) and Alex Kahoe (Pennsylvania).

Timchal attended West Chester (Pa.) University where she lettered in lacrosse, tennis and track & field. Following her graduation, she became an assistant coach at Unionville (Pa.) High School where she coached field hockey, lacrosse and basketball. In 1979, she joined the collegiate ranks, becoming an assistant lacrosse and field hockey coach at the University of Pennsylvania.

Cathy NELSON

Assistant Coach
Maryland '98
5th Year at Maryland

Cathy Nelson enters her fifth year as an assistant coach for the Maryland lacrosse program. Now the senior assistant on the Terrapin coaching staff, Nelson has become an invaluable member of the Terp program.

Like newly-hired assistant Jen Adams, Nelson is a former Terrapin player who can relate to nearly any situation the current players are facing.

But to say that Nelson simply played here would be downplaying her accomplishments as a Terrapin. The second-leading scorer on the 1998 NCAA championship team and that year's NCAA Tournament most valuable player, Nelson's still name dots the Terrapin record books. She ranks in the Top 10 for her career and on the single season charts in goals and assists and is in the Top 15 for points scored at Maryland. She finished her career with 217 points, 140 goals and 77 assists while her 58 goals in 1998 ranks as the seventh-best season in school history. More importantly, the Terps were national champions in each of her four seasons as a player and now three of her four seasons as a coach.

Nelson is still involved in lacrosse as a player as she plays in the National Club Lacrosse League as a member of Team Toyota. As for coaching, her work extends beyond the confines of College Park.

In addition to coaching at Maryland, Nelson also spends time working with girls of all ages in the Baltimore-D.C. area. She is the director of the Maryland Stars Lacrosse Club, the Bethesda Lacrosse Club and the Champion Lacrosse Camp, all of which work with elementary and middle school-aged lacrosse players while the Stars also features players up to high school age. Impressively, Nelson founded the Champion Lacrosse Camp as a freshman at Maryland in 1995, a camp she still manages to direct while serving as one of the primary instructors or organizers of Maryland's All-American Camps.

A two-time All-American and member of the U.S. national team in 1998 and "99, Nelson graduated from Maryland in December of 1998, earning her degree in speech communications. She is currently working on getting her masters degree from Loyola College in business administration and is engaged to be married in June to former men's lacrosse star Brian Reese, who plays professionally with the Baltimore Bayhawks and the Colorado Mammouth.

Jen ADAMS

Assistant Coach
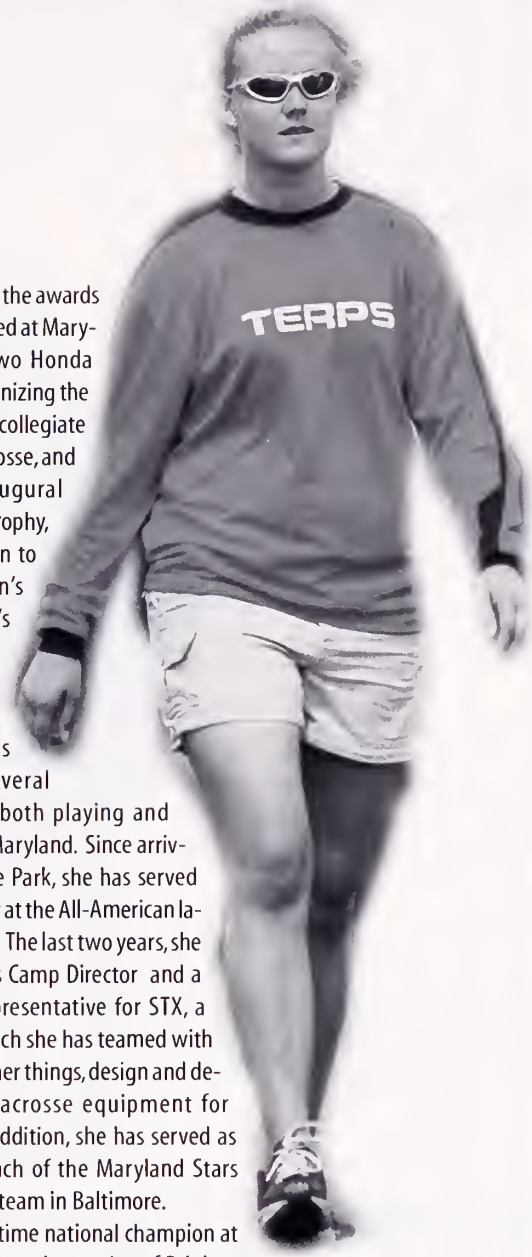
1st Year at Maryland

When the time comes to replace an assistant coach who has chosen to go elsewhere, the decision isn't always easy. When that coach is arguably the most recognizable name in men's lacrosse – as Gary Gait is–– it seemingly makes the job tougher. So when that happened to the University of Maryland team this past year, the Terps answered by naming the player who is arguably the most recognizable name in women's lacrosse, Jen Adams, its newest assistant coach.

Adams begins her first season with the Terps in a full-time coaching capacity after having spent each of the past five years here. A player at Maryland from 1998-2001 and a undergraduate assistant a year ago, Adams knows the storied Terrapin program as well as anyone.

From the standpoint of accolades, Adams' playing career is unmatched. A three-time All-American and three-time national player of the year, Adams is collegiate women's lacrosse's all-time leading points scorer. In her four years at Maryland, she posted 445 points, breaking a record that had been held for over 15 years. In addition, she holds the following records – first in all-time assists (178), fourth in all-time goals (267), first and second in single-season points (148 in 2001; 136 in 2000) and second and third in single-season assists (60 in 2001; 55 in 2000).

Adams in her playing days with the Terps from 1998-2001.

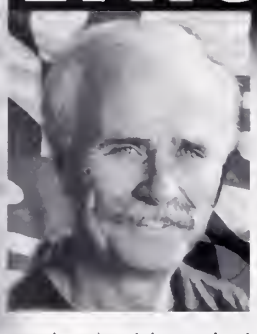


Among the awards Adams received at Maryland were two Honda Awards, recognizing the top player in collegiate women's lacrosse, and the inaugural Tewaaraton Trophy, which is given to the top men's and women's player in collegiate lacrosse.

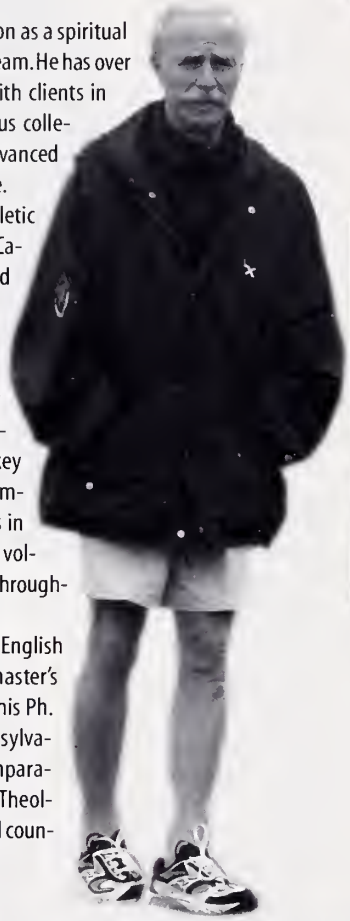
Adams has held several posts while both playing and coaching at Maryland. Since arriving in College Park, she has served as a counselor at the All-American lacrosse camps. The last two years, she has served as Camp Director and a technical representative for STX, a company which she has teamed with to, among other things, design and develop new lacrosse equipment for women. In addition, she has served as the head coach of the Maryland Stars club lacrosse team in Baltimore.

A four-time national champion at Maryland, Adams is a native of Brighton, Australia.

Dr. Jerry LYNCH



Spiritual Advisor
St. Francis
8th Year at Maryland



Jerry Lynch is entering his eighth season as a spiritual advisor for the Maryland women's lacrosse team. He has over 20 years of experience who has worked with clients in the PGA, NFL and NBA, as well as numerous collegiate teams, many of which have either advanced to the NCAA Final Four or won an NCAA title.

Lynch runs the TaoSports Center for Athletic Development which is based in Santa Cruz, Calif. He has published seven books and has had 75 published articles. His latest book, Creative Coaching, was published at the beginning of this year.

The Terrapins have won seven straight NCAA titles and five ACC titles since his arrival. Lynch also works with the field hockey team which captured the 1999 national championship and made it to the national finals in 2001. Maryland's women's basketball and volleyball teams also use Lynch as a consultant throughout their seasons.

After earning his bachelor's degree in English from St. Francis College, Lynch earned his master's degree in psychology from Penn State and his Ph. D. in psychology from the University of Pennsylvania. In addition, he has earned a Ph. D. in comparative religions from the American College of Theology and a master's degree in family and child counseling from California.

Season OUTLOOK 2003

A New Desire, New Goals For 2003

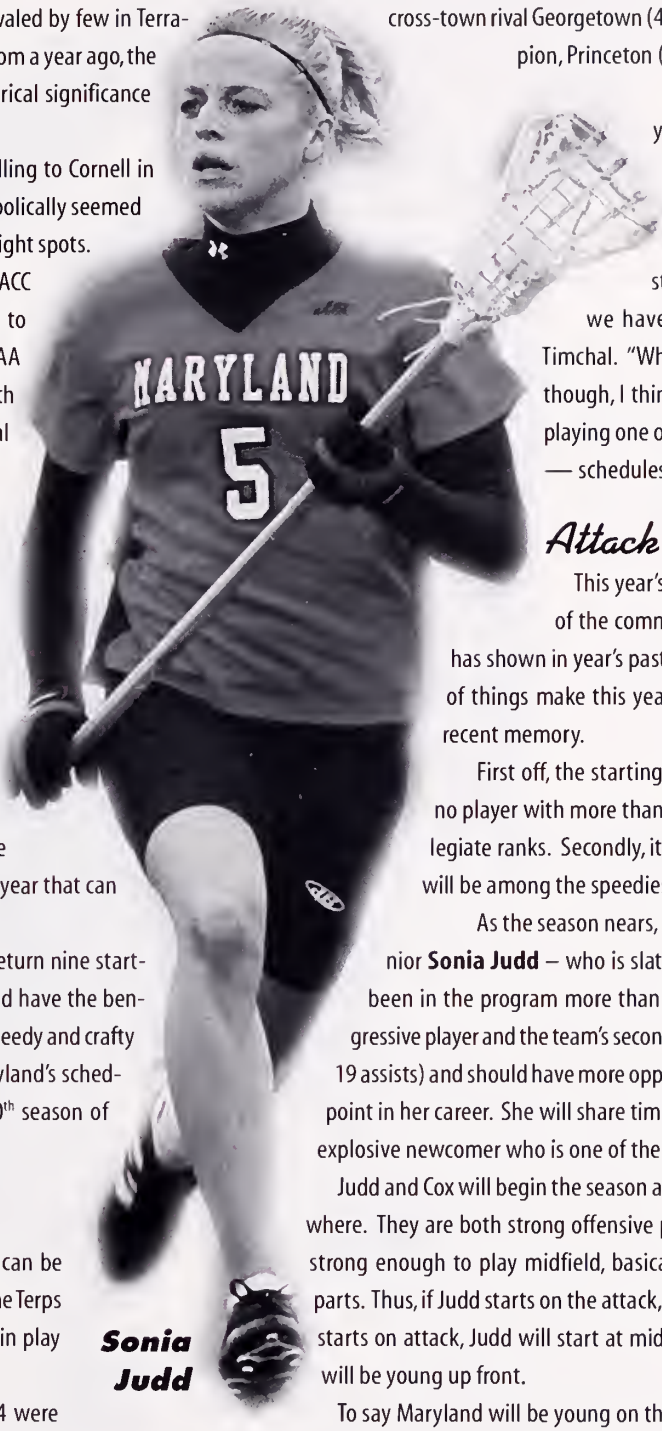
After posting the third-longest run of consecutive championships (seven) in NCAA history, several pundits expressed that the inability to keep the streak alive in 2002 meant a "stop sign" for the Maryland women's lacrosse program. But after an offseason training program rivaled by few in Terrapin history and the return of all but two starters from a year ago, the expectation around College Park is that the historical significance of 2002 will look more like a speedbump.

The Terrapins finished 11-10 a year ago, falling to Cornell in the NCAA quarterfinals. It was a season that symbolically seemed to be played in the rain, but was not without its bright spots. Among them was a huge win over Virginia at the ACC Tournament — the first-ever number four seed to win an ACC tourney game – and a first round NCAA upset of Loyola, a team that came into the game with a 15-3 record and plans on playing host at the Final Four.

It was a season that saw five games lost by a single goal and ended leaving a young team with a new desire and offseason goals of a to return to glory.

"We have been hungry after last season and the players have shown great dedication to come out in 2003 and prove how good we really are," said Timchal. "Our losses last year were on the flip side of where we had been in year's past where there was a close game and we would come away victorious. We feel like we have a team this year that can again compete with any team in the country."

The 10-time national champion Terrapins return nine starters and 17 letterwinners from last year's team and have the benefit of some added firepower in the form of some speedy and crafty newcomers. The following is a closer look at Maryland's schedule and each position as the Terps enter their 30th season of women's lacrosse:



Sonia Judd

The Schedule

Though a good deal of last year's troubles can be attributed to inexperience and tough scheduling, the Terps have not changed anything this year as they again play one of the toughest schedules in the country.

Of Maryland's 16 scheduled opponents, 14 were ranked in last year's Intercollegiate Women's Lacrosse Coaches' Association (IWLCA) top 20 while six others'– including all of the nation's top five teams'– were ranked in last year's top 10.

The Terrapins again face conference rivals Duke and North Carolina early in the season while matchups later in the season include a date with cross-town rival Georgetown (4/2) and last season's national champion, Princeton (4/30).

"It is always tough when you face your conference rivals at the start of the season, which we do again this year, but it will be nice to have one game (George Mason) before starting ACC play which is something we haven't had in the recent past," said Timchal. "When looking at the whole schedule, though, I think it is fair to say that we are again playing one of the toughest – if not the toughest — schedules in the country."

Attack

This year's group of attackers will share some of the common traits that the Maryland attack has shown in year's past – the ability to score. But a couple of things make this year's group stand out from others of recent memory.

First off, the starting unit of 2003, at times, will feature no player with more than two years of experience at the collegiate ranks. Secondly, it is a unit that, with few exceptions, will be among the speediest Maryland has had in a while.

As the season nears, the Terps have just one player'– senior Sonia Judd – who is slated to see time as a starter that has been in the program more than two years. Judd is an athletic, aggressive player and the team's second-leading returning scorer (34 goals, 19 assists) and should have more opportunities to score than at any other point in her career. She will share time with true freshman Delia Cox, an explosive newcomer who is one of the fastest players on the team.

Judd and Cox will begin the season as starters – it is just a question as to where. They are both strong offensive players but have stick skills and are strong enough to play midfield, basically making them interchangeable parts. Thus, if Judd starts on the attack, Cox will do so in the midfield. If Cox starts on attack, Judd will start at middie and, as stated before, the Terps will be young up front.

To say Maryland will be young on the attack is oversimplification, however. Second-year players Annie Collins and Kristie Leggio started a combined 37 games as freshmen a year ago and both are among the team's top five returning scorers. Collins — who played her first full season after two knee surgeries last year – is one of the team's most skilled players and always seems to be around the ball. She had a strong fall and could have a breakout year in 2003. Leggio is a skilled offensive player in her own right and a year of experience and confidence could make this duo one of the top attacking tandems in the country.

The fourth starter on attack will be another freshman, Jaimee Motley. Motley is a player who played well in the fall and showed good passing skills and good instincts moving without the ball. She is the complete type of player teams need to excel in their offensive sets.

Other players who will see playing time on the attack will include junior Laura Warren, sophomore Jessica Dorney and freshman Brooke Richards with any one of the three having the ability to add scoring punch off the bench for the Terps.
Overall, it is a group with talent, speed and the versatility to get back and help in the midfield.

"The expectations that we have for our attackers," said Timchal, "is to have the ability to generate shots, run the offense and convert on scoring situations and these are all qualities that this group can do very well."

Midfield

The midfield is a spot that should benefit most from last season. Coming into last year, the questions were about how the Terps would replace stars Jen Adams and Quinn Carney and what resulted was a new group of talented players.

If there is one drawback to comparing this year's group of middies to those of year's past it is that the Terrapins are not super deep this season. But what they lack in numbers, they make up for in talent.

Kelly Coppedge returns for her junior season after posting 107 points in her first two seasons at Maryland. A physical, tenacious offensive force and the lone returning All-American from a year ago, Coppedge is a go-to player who can be counted on at crunch time. She is a legitimate ACC Player of the Year candidate.

Joining Coppedge in the starting lineup is Acacia Walker, a second-year player who suffered through some growing pains as a freshman, but finished the season strong and looks like a top-flight talent as she enters her sophomore campaign. Last season, she found the net 19 times and handed out another 14 assists, amassing the third-best point total among freshmen. Walker excels on the draw, has strong stick skills and has improved her conditioning and understanding of the collegiate game dramatically since last year, making her a player to watch for Maryland in '03.

Kelly Coppedge

The third starter will be – as stated earlier – either Judd or Cox while several others will factor in as reserves. One player who could be a factor in the midfield is junior–Molly Lambert, a regular starter on defense whose skills are served as well in the midfield as on defense. Another player who will be a factor in the midfield is sophomore Megan Sommar, a player who has gotten more physical in the offseason and showed strong checking ability in the fall.

"We have a lot of expectations for our midfielders this year," said Timchal. "They are aggressive players, can move the ball up the field and are strong at taking care of the ball under pressure. We feel like this group will again be one of the strengths of our team."

Defense

The Terrapin defensive unit likely boasts the most experience of any collective group in the Maryland arsenal.

In senior Julie Shank, the team has a known commodity – a tenacious defender who goes all out every second she is in the game. Shank enters her final year in the best health and shape she has been in during her time at Maryland and the result could be in postseason recognition. She has good speed and balance and is one of three players on this year's defense who excel at pushing the ball into the offensive zone.

Another player who fits that description is second-year sensation Greta Sommers. Probably the hardest working player on the team, Sommers came on as a true freshman and started all 21 games after having walked on a year ago. Sommers is a strong defender with a feel for the game that helps her anticipate where the ball is headed. Like Shank, she is a player who will likely get notice when postseason accolades are being considered and at some point in her career – if not this year – will be considered a national defensive player of the year candidate.

The third starting spot on defense will go to Lambert, a strong all-around player who looks like her final two seasons will be her best. Should Lambert move into the midfield, which she will be apt to do at different times of the game, junior Meg Mallon will be the first reserve in on defense.

The fourth starter as the season approaches is junior Tess McLeod, a second-year Terp who looks much more comfortable on the field than she did a year ago. Last year, McLeod joined Maryland just prior to the start of the season, coming over as the latest transfer from Australia. Coaches suggest that she is a different player than she was a year ago, something that will solidify the defense. Mallon is also very capable and will challenge up to and throughout the season for more playing time with both players offering a hard-working, aggressive quality to their play.

"Our defense knows that they are an essential part of our success this year," said Timchal. "We need to force our opponents into tougher shots and fewer shots when we can to help take pressure off of the people in goal and this group looks like it is up to the challenge. What makes me feel comfortable is we have players with experience and a strong work ethic so we should be in good shape."

Greta Sommers

Goalie

Alexis Venechanos

If the trio of goalies on this year's team looks familiar, it is because the names and faces did not change at all this offseason.

Seniors Alexis Venechanos and Cara Gorman and sophomore Kirah Miles are all back this season, forming a solid group of goalies from which the Terrapins can get solid minutes. As a unit, the goalies spent countless hours in the offseason working on their free position defense, something that should be a factor in the outcome of some of the close games the Terrapins came out short on a year ago.

Venechanos enters the season as the starter after allowing 9.91 goals per game a year ago. It was a season that saw her struggle at times, but again close very strong at the end of the season when it counted most. Starting with the ACC Tournament, Venechanos averaged over 10 saves per game and gave the team the consistency it will seek again this season. The consummate team player, Venechanos will try to make her senior season as memorable as her sophomore campaign, one that saw her go undefeated and close the year with a championship performance in the NCAA Finals.

The backup role will be between Gorman and Miles, but both players will be active in their pursuit of playing time whether that means as reserves or starters. Gorman is a hard-working player with a great attitude who came off the bench and performed well a year ago, ultimately earning three starts and posting the team's highest save percentage (.500). Miles has the best footwork of the lot and has the potential to be a very strong netminder. What she lacks is primarily a product of inexperience.

The fact that Maryland has three players capable of starting bodes well for the Terps in 2003 and with improved consistency from the corps as a whole, the entire team will be the beneficiary.

"We are looking for more consistency out of our goalkeepers, but it's a two-way street where our defense needs to be better right along with it," said Timchal. "In the fall, it looked like we were all on the same page so hopefully the work we did on the eight-meters in the offseason will help us."

Season REVIEW 2002

A Look Back At Last Season

The Maryland women's lacrosse team entered the 2002 season knowing two things – that it would be competing to win its eighth-consecutive NCAA title and that the going could be tough after losing almost 70 percent of its starters from the year before.

In its quest to continue the third-longest championship streak in the history of NCAA women's athletics, the Terrapins opened the season with two of the toughest tests they could have picked – at conference rivals Duke and North Carolina. At Durham, the Terps led early, taking a 6-3 lead into the half. But when Lauren Gallagher scored with 1:49 remaining left in the game, Maryland found itself down 9-8 and in jeopardy of starting the season with a loss. With 0:08 left on the clock, senior Courtney Hobbs found the back of the net to seemingly push the game to overtime, but the goal was called off due to a controversial–"dangerous follow through" call. The loss snapped a 43-game winning streak that Maryland had carried into the season.

Two days later, the Terrapins again led at the half, holding a 6-5 edge over the Tar Heels. An opponent's second-half spurt again doomed the Terps' efforts and for the first time in over four years, Maryland had lost two games in a row.

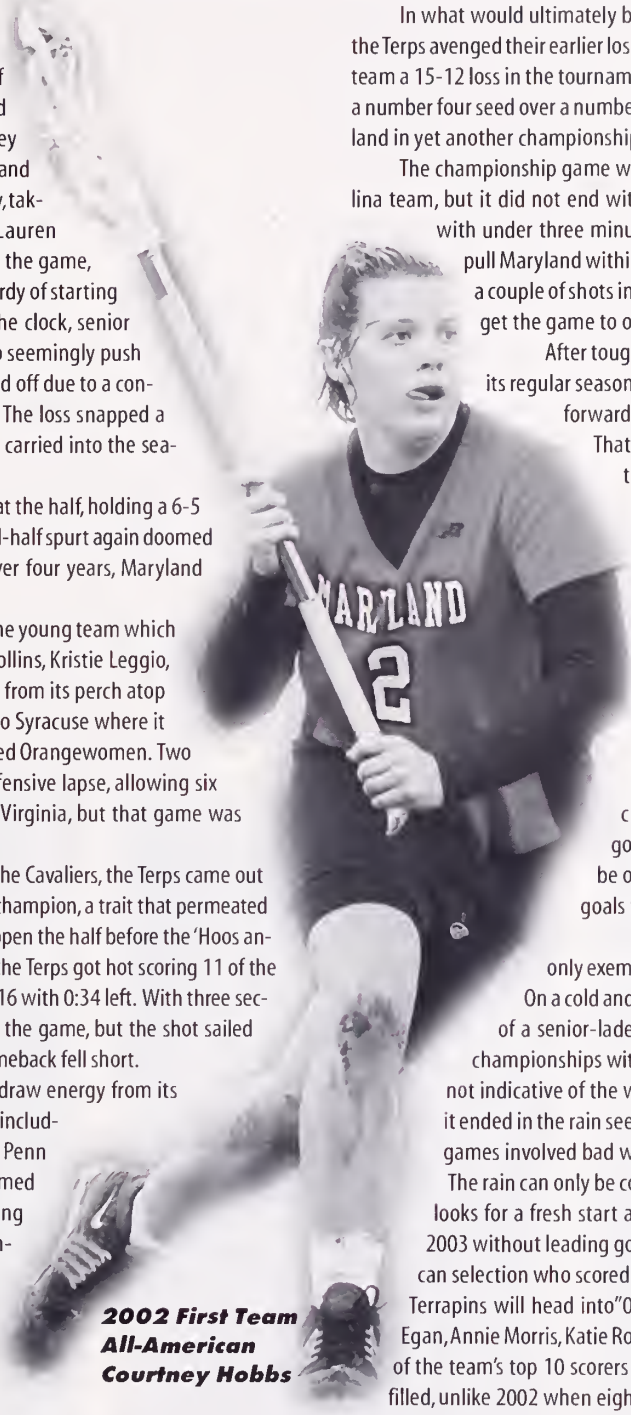
Things would get better, however, for the young team which found itself starting four freshmen (Annie Collins, Kristie Leggio, Greta Sommers, Acacia Walker). After falling from its perch atop of the national rankings, the Terps traveled to Syracuse where it took its frustrations out on the seventh-ranked Orangewomen. Two days later, the Terrapins again suffered a defensive lapse, allowing six unanswered goals to start their game with Virginia, but that game was far from over.

After ultimately falling behind 12-4 to the Cavaliers, the Terps came out in the second half and showed the heart of a champion, a trait that permeated the young team all year. Maryland scored to open the half before the 'Hoos answered with a pair to extend their lead, then the Terps got hot scoring 11 of the game's final 14 goals to bring the score to 17-16 with 0:34 left. With three seconds left, Meredith Egan got a shot off to tie the game, but the shot sailed wide and the Terrapins' hopes of a miracle comeback fell short.

Despite the loss, Maryland seemed to draw energy from its effort. The team rattled off five-straight wins including victories over No. 9 Dartmouth and No. 11 Penn State. It marked a period where the team seemed to get its feet back, but still had trouble finding the magic that had led the team to seven-straight championships.

That fact became apparent in a series of three-straight losses, a stretch that was capped with a disappointing 11-10 loss at James Madison. Like the Virginia game, the loss to JMU seemed to awaken the Terps once again and they began another run of solid play.

That run started with a 21-11 win at William & Mary. In the win, Maryland used a 12-goal run over the final 15 minutes of the first half to put it away early. In the win, Hobbs notched career-highs in points (9) and goals (6) while Kelly Coppedge netted a career-high seven points. The Terps would use the momentum from that game to go on and beat Johns Hopkins on the road before heading back to Durham for the ACC Tournament and a rematch with Virginia.



2002 First Team All-American Courtney Hobbs

In what would ultimately be one of the team's two biggest wins of the year, the Terps avenged their earlier loss to the Cavs and handed the nation's third-ranked team a 15-12 loss in the tournament's first round. The win marked the first ever by a number four seed over a number one seed in the ACC tourney and it placed Maryland in yet another championship game.

The championship game would end up being another win by a strong Carolina team, but it did not end without some drama by the Terrapins. Down 11-7 with under three minutes left, the Terps ran off three-straight goals to pull Maryland within one with 0:46 left. The Terps were able to fire off a couple of shots in the final minute, but could not close the deal and get the game to overtime.

After tough losses at Princeton and Loyola, Maryland closed its regular season with an 18-6 win over George Mason and looked forward to a rematch with Loyola in the NCAA's first round. That rematch could only have been one of concern for the Terps as the Greyhounds held Maryland to a mere four goals in their previous meeting just two weeks previous. That four goals marked Maryland's lowest goal total since 1991.

But the rematch was a different story. The Terps doubled their goal total from the first meeting by the end of the first half and matched the home team with five goals apiece in the second half for an eventual 13-8 win. Like the George Mason game before it, the win showcased a mix of the old Maryland firepower — with crisp passing and quick-hitters around the goalmouth – and some of the young talent that will be on display in future seasons (nine of the game's 14 goals were scored by players who will return in 2003).

The season ended on a note, however, that could only exemplify much of what this team experienced in 2002. On a cold and rainy day in Ithaca, N.Y., the Terps fell at the hands of a senior-laden Cornell squad, ending a dynamic run of seven championships with a 14-4 quarterfinal loss. Although the loss was not indicative of the way Maryland had played its season, the fact that it ended in the rain seemed to be a theme (at least a third of the season's games involved bad weather).

The rain can only be considered symbolic at this point as Maryland now looks for a fresh start at another run of championships. It will do so in 2003 without leading goal scorer Courtney Hobbs, an eventual All-American selection who scored a career-high 87 points in her senior season. The Terrapins will head into"03 without strong contributors such as Meredith Egan, Annie Morris, Katie Robinson and Megan Kelly. More importantly, seven of the team's top 10 scorers remain and only three starting spots need to be filled, unlike 2002 when eight starters'– five of whom were All-Americans— were lost to graduation.

The 2002 season was not one cut out of the typical Maryland mode. It was, however, a season full of promise for a bright future and – with some sunny days ahead – the potential for more championship runs.

DUKE 9
MARYLAND 8

March 1
Koskinen Field • Durham, N.C.

DURHAM, N.C. -- Maryland opened its 2002 season with a tough 9-8 loss at No. 3 Duke.

The Terrapins' loss marked the end of a 43-game win streak that the team had carried into the season and just its second loss in the last 74 games. Maryland, which entered the game as the No. 1 ranked team in the preseason IWLCA poll, had not lost since March 5 of 2DDD (a triple overtime loss to North Carolina).

In the game, Duke jumped out to an early 1-D lead, but Maryland got rolling and rattled off six of the next eight goals to post a 6-3 first half lead. The six goals came from six different Terps and the lead was nearly 7-3, but a Meredith Egan goal as the buzzer sounded was ruled no good, a sign of things to come.

The second half began as the first did -- with Duke scoring first and then Maryland establishing its will. Despite strong play, though, the Terrapins had trouble converting and the lead was just 7-4 with 17 minutes remaining. At that point, Duke took control of the game's scoring.

From 16:20 on, the Blue Devils outscored Maryland S-1 for the ultimate 9-8 final. The game did not end without controversy, however. The first controversial call came at the 4:00 mark when goalie Alexis Venechanos seemed to make a nice steal in front of the Terrapin cage. Instead, she was ruled to have committed a body checking foul and Jessica Bennett was awarded a free position shot, which she converted to tie the game.

After a Lauren Gallagher goal gave Duke the lead, Maryland attempted to tie the game. Despite several misfires in the opponent's end due to penalties, the Terps seemingly sent the game to overtime when senior Courtney Hobbs found the back of the net with 0:08 on the clock. Maryland's celebration was cut short, though, when it was ruled that she had committed a "dangerous" follow through on her shot and the goal was disallowed.

In the loss, there were several strong efforts for Maryland as Venechanos looked strong in the cage with 11 saves and she played up to the level of her counterpart, All-American candidate Kristen Foster. The Terps were led in scoring by sophomore Kelly Coppedge who had a hat trick and an assist while Hobbs had a goal and two assists.

Game 2

N. CAROLINA 13
MARYLAND 11

March 3
Henry Stadium • Chapel Hill, N.C.

CHAPEL HILL, N.C. -- The Terps lost the back end of its two-game road swing through Tobacco Road as the University of North Carolina handed them a 13-11 loss. Maryland is now 0-2 on the young season and in the Atlantic Coast Conference.

The Terrapins' consecutive losses mark the first time that they have lost two games in a row since the start of the 1998 season. In that year, the Terps dropped games at Duke and UNC to open 0-2 before storming back to a 18-3 record and their fourth straight national championship.

In this year's game against the Tar Heels, Maryland had a bit of a case of deja vu from Friday's game against Duke. UNC jumped on the board early -- albeit more agressively than did the Blue Devils -- as it scored the game's first three goals. The Terps came back and got a boost from a surprise source as newcomer Laura Warren (who just joined the team in mid-February) scored the first goal of her collegiate career to get the Terps started. From that point on, the Terrapins scored five of the game's next seven goals to take a 6-S lead into the locker room.

The second half started with Maryland extending its lead as Courtney Hobbs found the net :31 into the frame. At that point, the aggressive Tar Heels took command as the home team scored eight of the game's next 1D goals to go up four goals with less than eight minutes remaining.

For the game, sophomore Kelly Coppedge again performed well as she scored four goals on as many shots. For the weekend, Coppedge took nine shots and converted on all but one. Coppedge was joined at the top of the scoring column by Hobbs who had a goal and a pair of assists in the losing effort.

Carrier Dome • Syracuse, N.Y.

SYRACUSE, N.Y. -- No. 5 Maryland returned to form with an important 15-11 win over No. 7 Syracuse University at the Carrier Dome in Syracuse.

The Terrapins used their most complete team effort of the season to move out in front of Syracuse, stave off a late challenge and ultimately pull away in an impressive win. Maryland was led in scoring by senior Courtney Hobbs, who scored a career-high five goals and added an assist in the win. Other notables in the game included a career-high three assists for fellow senior Meredith Egan (who also had a pair of goals) and a career-high tying 14 saves by junior Alexis Venechanos.

The game opened with Syracuse getting on the board first (as each team has against the Terps this year), but Maryland charged back to score four straight and five of the last six of the half to own a 5-2 halftime lead. New York native Kristie Leggio (Bay Shore) had a pair of goals to lead the first half charge, her first career multiple-goal performance.

The second half began as the first ended -- with Maryland in control. Hobbs scored a pair of goals in the first four minutes and the Terrapins owned a commanding 7-2 lead. To its credit, however, Syracuse did not go down quietly.

The Orangewomen scored eight of the game's next 10 goals (including four-in-a-row at one point) to take a 10-9 lead with 13:54 left. Hobbs then scored her fourth goal of the day to tie the score and sophomore Kelly Coppedge got on the board with a pair of goals before SU could answer. With S:01 remaining, Hobbs scored again to put Maryland up 13-11, the Terps won the ensuing draw, and played the slow down game to perfection. In the final three minutes, the Terrapins salted the game away with crisp passing in the Syracuse end and, ultimately, a pair of goals which came after Syracuse players vacated their goal in an effort to get the ball back.

VIRGINIA 17
MARYLAND 16

March 12
Ludwig Field • College Park, Md.

COLLEGE PARK, Md. -- Maryland ran out of time in one of the highest scoring games in school history, as it fell 17-16 to ACC-rival Virginia at Ludwig Field.

In the rain-soaked game, the sixth-ranked Terrapins and No. 8 Virginia pumped in 33 goals, the most in a Maryland game since a 24-15 win at James Madison in 2DDD and the most at a Maryland home game since March 28, 1985, a 29-S win over Towson State.

In the game, Maryland fell behind early and struggled in the first half. The Cavaliers scored the game's first six goals and led by as many as eight goals (9-1) in the first 30 minutes. Virginia carried a 12-4 lead into intermission, scoring on all but six shots in the frame.

The second half started with the Cavaliers scoring two of the first three goals and owning what seemed to be an insurmountable 14-5 lead with 28:02 left to play. The Terps, however, never gave up. Starting at the 27:16 mark, Maryland scored 11 of the game's final 14 goals and when Courtney Hobbs came up with the draw with 0:34 left, the Terrapins found themselves with a shot at sending the game to overtime.

That shot came with approximately three seconds remaining as senior Meredith Egan charged in and fired from the right side of the goal mouth with her shot, and the Terrapins' hopes at a miracle comeback sailing wide of the goal.

For the game, Kelly Coppedge led the Terps with a career-high five goals and seven total points. Hobbs scored four goals and added an assist while sophomore Annie Collins and senior Egan each added two goals. As a team, the Terrapins took 39 shots, 11 more than Virginia and their most as a team since game 11 of last season when they took 43 in a 17-5 win over William & Mary.

Game 5

MARYLAND 19 BROWN 8

March 16

Stevenson Field • Providence, R.I.

PROVIDENCE, R.I. -- The sixth-ranked Terrapin women's lacrosse team got its second win of the young season as it handed Brown University a 19-8 loss in Providence.

The Terps continued its recent trend of high-scoring outings, putting up its highest goal total of 2002 to date with 19. Against the Bears, however, the story was the Terrapins' defense.

After Brown got on the board to open the scoring eight-and-a-half minutes in, the Terps scored eight of the next 10 first half goals and never looked back. Brown scored in several short spurts the rest of the way, but the Terrapin runs were overpowering. For the game, Maryland had three four-goal runs and then closed out with a six-goal spurt. The offensive outbursts were complimented by a strong performance in goal by junior Cara Gorman, who drew her first career starting assignment.

Gorman made 15 saves in just over 48 minutes of work while allowing eight goals (.652 save percentage). Gorman's 15 stops were the most by a Terrapin goalie since Alex Kahoe made 16 versus Georgetown in the 2000 season (a span of 37 games) and came in just over 48 minutes of work.

On the offensive end, Courtney Hobbs led the way with five goals and a pair of assists. Freshman Kristie Leggio continued the strong start to her collegiate career as she posted her best numbers to date in a five-point outing (three goals, two assists). Senior Meredith Egan (one goal, three assists) and sophomore Kelly Coppedge (four goals) each added four points of their own, while freshman Acacia Walker joined Leggio with her first career hat trick.

Game 6

MARYLAND 13 DARTMOUTH 8

March 19

Ludwig Field • College Park, Md.

COLLEGE PARK, Md. -- The Terrapins earned their third win of the season with an impressive second half defensive effort, beating No. 9 Dartmouth College, 13-8, at Ludwig Field.

The Terps opened the game with four-straight goals, marking the first time it had opened the scoring in any game this season. Sophomore Annie Collins scored two of her career-high three goals during that stretch. As it has at times this year, however, Maryland allowed its opponents a run of its own. Dartmouth ran off the game's next four goals to knot the score at four, then the two teams traded a pair of goals before intermission.

The Big Green opened the scoring in the second half as Lana Smith found the back of the net, but at that point, the Terps put the defensive clamps down. Maryland allowed just one other goal in the game's final 26-plus minutes while scoring seven of its own to turn a 7-6 deficit into an eventual 13-8 final. Down the stretch, Meredith Egan led the way with three of her game-high four goals while Cara Gorman and Alexis Venechanos combined in goal to shut down the Dartmouth attack.

Back on the offensive end, Sonia Judd was Maryland's second-leading scorer as she had a goal and a career-high four assists for four points.

MARYLAND 17 OLD DOMINION 9

March 23

Ludwig Field • College Park, Md.

COLLEGE PARK, Md. -- Maryland earned its third-straight win, beating No. 16 Old Dominion University, 17-9, on a blustery day at Ludwig Field.

As it has in its last two games, Maryland got on the board early and eventually cruised to victory. The Terrapins scored five times in as many minutes after the opening draw while holding ODU to just one goal to own an early 5-1 lead. In that stretch, junior Sonia Judd notched her first hat trick of the season and added an assist for four early points. For the remainder of the half, the Terps outscored the Monarchs, 6-4, to take an 11-5 lead into the half. In the half, Kelly Coppedge and Julie Shank added a pair of goals. Among Shank's goals was a scoop shot that came after Courtney Hobbs had been knocked to the ground just inside of the eight meter, but managed steered the ball in Shank's direction before hitting the ground. Shank ultimately directed the ball from the ground into the back of the net.

One of the keys to the first half was the Terrapins' draw control as freshman Acacia Walker was strong, leading Maryland to a 12-5 first half advantage.

The second half opened with the Terps continuing their scoring run as Annie Collins, Meredith Egan and Coppedge each rattled the cage to run the score to 14-5 with just over 20 minutes left, virtually putting the game on ice. The Terrapins used the opportunity to play newcomers, with Jessica Dorney (scored first career goal) and Kirah Miles (played final 10 minutes in goal) among them.

Coppedge led the way in the scoring column, tying a career high with seven points (four goals, three assists). Hobbs also tied a career high in points with seven, doing so behind a career-high six assists. The six assists ties the all-time Maryland single-game record set five other times, most recently by Jen Adams in last year's season opener versus Duke. Not to be outdone, Judd also set career highs in the game for points (6) and goals (4).

Maryland has now won 76 straight games against non-conference opponents (its last non-ACC loss came to Loyola in 1997). In addition, In their last five games, the Terrapins have scored 80 goals (an average of 16 goals per game).

March 26

Ludwig Field • College Park, Md.

COLLEGE PARK, Md. – The Terrapins earned their fourth-straight win, handing the visiting Harvard Crimson a 18-3 defeat on a misty day at Ludwig Field.

The Terps' 18-goal effort continued its current high-scoring string, making it a total of 98 goals it their last six games (an average of 16.3 goals per game). But as it has been lately, the story has been the improved play of the Maryland defense.

Against the Crimson, the Terrapin defense allowed a total of just nine shots in the game, fewest by a Maryland opponent since game 16 of last season, a 7-6 win over Princeton. The three goals allowed by the Terps were — like the shot total — fewest by a Terp opponent this year as well as the lowest goal total by a Maryland opponent since last year's 19-2 win over Ohio State.

Offensively, Maryland didn't get going until around the 10-minute mark in the first half. Before Meredith Egan scored an unassisted goal with 9:02 left in the half, the Terrapins' lead was just 4-2. After Egan's goal, Maryland ran off four more unanswered goals — three within the span of a minute and then the last coming with five seconds left in the half — to put it up 9-2 at the break.

The second half showed no relief for the Crimson as they were held without a goal for the first 20 minutes of the period while the Terps rattled off another six to run the score to 15-2. All told, Maryland scored 13 unanswered goals in just under 22 minutes, putting a relatively close game on ice.

Individually, junior Sonia Judd continued her strong play, netting five goals and a pair of assists to lead all scorers (seven points). The goal and point total were career highs for Judd and come on the heels of her being named co-ACC Player of the Week earlier today after setting career highs for points and goals in last week's games.

Joining Judd atop the scoring column were Kelly Coppedge (four goals, two assists), Courtney Hobbs (one goal, three assists) and Annie Collins (two goals, two assists).

MARYLAND 13
PENN STATE 11

March 29

Ludwig Field • College Park, Md.

2002 ACC/ALC Challenge

COLLEGE PARK, Md. – Maryland won a close one as it overcame a tough Penn State team late and pulled out a 13-11 victory in front of 900 fans at Ludwig Field.

The Terrapins and Nittany Lions squared off today as part of the ACC/American Lacrosse Conference Challenge. In earlier action, North Carolina gave the Atlantic Coast Conference its first win as it beat Ohio State, 12-7. The American Lacrosse Conference -- which is the conference both Penn State and Ohio State play in despite their school's primary affiliation -- now stands at 0-2.

Maryland's fifth-straight win was in jeopardy late, as the Nittany Lions held a 11-9 advantage after Kristen Burke's unassisted goal with 8:25 left. The Terrapins, however, were up to the challenge as they scored four unanswered goals in the game's final seven minutes to pull out the win. The Terps have now won 78-straight games against non-conference competition.

In the first half, Penn State played well and ran out to an early 3-1 lead behind a pair of goals and an assist by Colleen O'Hara. The Terps answered with five of the game's next six goals -- including a pair from senior Meredith Egan -- but gave up a goal in the frame's final 55 seconds and ultimately held a narrow 6-5 lead at intermission.

The Terps extended that lead in the first minute of the second half on goals by Courtney Hobbs and Acacia Walker, but PSU charged back with three goals of their own, two of which were scored by B.J. Lucey. After Hobbs rattled the cage again, the Nittany Lions scored three more unanswered goals before the Terrapins final run of four to close out the game and the win.

Hobbs led all scorers with four goals and an assist while the freshman Walker notched her second career hat trick and an assist for four points of her own. Fellow frosh Kristie Leggio also had four points behind a pair of goals and a pair of assists.

Though the Terrapins scoring total was not up to its recent heights, Maryland did bombard Penn State's netminder -- Lee Tortorelli -- with 36 shots. To her credit, Tortorelli answered with 20 saves.

Game 10

OHIO STATE 12
MARYLAND 11

March 31

Ludwig Field • College Park, Md.

2002 ACC/ALC Challenge

COLLEGE PARK, Md. – The Terps lost to Ohio State, 12-11, in a driving rain at Ludwig Field. In the game, Maryland suffered from a case of déjà vu as the loss to the Buckeyes was reminiscent of a loss earlier in the season to Virginia.

The Terps dug themselves an early hole against OSU, allowing five unanswered goals to start the game. Leading the charge early for the Buckeyes were Megan Mirick and Regina Oliver, each of whom had a pair of goals. The Terrapins scored their first goal of the game on an unassisted score by Courtney Hobbs with 15:10 left in the first half, but the deluge did not stop there -- literally or figuratively -- for the Terps. Ohio State went on to score three of the final five goals of the half and carried an 8-3 lead into the break.

By comparison, Maryland fell behind 6-0 to Virginia and trailed by as many as eight goals in the first half in that game earlier this year.

The second half of today's game began with OSU extending its lead with a pair of goals and Maryland staring at a seven-goal deficit. To their credit, the Terps did not give up as they rattled off the next five goals with Hobbs and Sonia Judd each netting a pair in the run that cut the Buckeye lead to 10-8. Ohio State's Mirick – who led all scorers with five goals and an assist – then scored at 11:46, but Maryland responded again as it scored the next three goals to tie the game at 11 with 8:02 left. Both teams had their chances as time ran down, but only OSU was able to capitalize as Shannon Wilson found the back of the net on an unassisted goal with 1:37 left for the game winner.

As it did against UVa earlier this year, the Terrapins had matched their opponent's offensive output of the first half while limiting them in the second half. But again, as it did against the Cavaliers, Maryland gave up one more goal in the second half than its opponent did in the first.

The Terps were led in scoring by Kelly Coppedge who had three goals and an assist. Hobbs also added a hat trick in the loss. The win by Ohio State was the first for an American Lacrosse Conference school (both OSU and Penn State play in the ALC despite their school's affiliation with the Big Ten) over the weekend and breaks a string of 79-straight wins by Maryland over non-conference competition.

GEORGETOWN 10
MARYLAND 6

April 3

Ludwig Field • College Park, Md.

COLLEGE PARK, Md. – Maryland lost, 10-6, to the No. 1 Georgetown Hoyas in a rematch of the 2001 NCAA championship game on a cold and windy night at Ludwig Field. The loss was the first ever to the Hoyas in 12 meetings between the two teams.

The Terps got on the board first, using a deliberate approach and crisp passing that ultimately paid off in a quick-hitter by Annie Collins after a nice feed from Kelly Coppedge from behind the cage. The Hoyas then answered with a pair of goals to claim the lead and it was a bit of a see-saw affair for the remainder of the first half.

Georgetown took a two-goal lead in the half on a Gloria Lozano goal with 16 seconds remaining, but Courtney Hobbs answered back off of a feed from Sonia Judd with seven seconds left and the Terps went into the intermission down just 5-4.

The second half began as the first did, with Maryland scoring first. Hobbs scored on a free position shot just over five minutes in, and the Terps looked like they would make a game of it. The tie didn't last long, however, as Erin Elbe continued to use the hard-charging style that worked so well against the Terrapins in last year's title game to score a pair of goals and assist on another in a three-goal Hoya run. Maryland answered on an unassisted goal by Coppedge to cut the deficit to 8-6 with 12:29 left, but Wick Stanwick's goal almost seven minutes later sent the deficit back to three.

From that point on, Georgetown put the defensive clamps on the Terrapins, holding them to just three shots in the final 12 minutes and successfully running clock when in their offensive set.

J. MADISON 11
MARYLAND 10

April 6

JMU Lacrosse Field • Harrisonburg, Va.

HARRISONBURG, Va. -- The Terps lost in another close one as they fell to James Madison, 11-10, at the JMU Lacrosse Field in Harrisonburg. The loss marked the fourth time that the Terrapins have lost by one goal this year and marks the first win for JMU in the series in its last 29 tries.

Maryland got out to a fast start against the Dukes, scoring the game's first two goals and ultimately moving its way out to a 4-1 lead almost midway through the first half. In the first 15 minutes, seniors Meredith Egan (two goals) and Courtney Hobbs (one goal, two assists) paced the Terps' scoring attack.

The Dukes, however, took a timeout after Maryland's fourth goal with the intent of changing their early misfortune. The timeout, as it turns out, was well-timed as JMU outscored the Terrapins, 6-4, for the rest of the half and ended the half with just a one-goal deficit (8-7) after Egan completed a first-half hat trick with a goal at 0:12 left in the frame.

The second half saw the Terps struggling to get shots while James Madison took over the lead and extended it. Maryland went the first 13-plus minutes of the half before it took its first shot and JMU took advantage and scored three goals to open up a 10-8 lead with 20 minutes remaining.

Freshman Acacia Walker ended the Maryland scoring drought with an unassisted goal with just under 15 minutes to go. At the 10:19 mark, JMU's Lisa Staedt scored her third goal of the game to extend the Dukes' lead back to two, but another Terrapin freshman -- Kristie Leggio -- ultimately answered with a goal with three-and-a-half minutes left to get the deficit back to 11-10.

The Terps won the ensuing draw, but turned it over and JMU tried to kill the clock. Junior defender Julie Shank helped Maryland get the ball back with a caused turnover with 2:20 left, but the Terps were unable to convert. After the failed attempt, the Dukes were able to run the clock down to the 22-second mark but Maryland almost made that little bit enough.

With the clock winding down, freshman Greta Sommers ran the ball from the Terrapin end line into the James Madison end before getting Kelly Coppedge a chance with five seconds remaining. Coppedge got a good look, but her shot sailed wide and with it, the Terrapins' hopes at overtime.

MARYLAND 21
WM. & MARY 11

April 10

Busch Field • Williamsburg, Va.

WILLIAMSBURG, Va. -- A 12-goal run over the final 15 minutes of the first half propelled the 13th-ranked University of Maryland Terrapins to a 21-11 win over the hosting College of William & Mary in women's lacrosse action at Busch Field.

The win moved the Terps to 7-6 on the season, while the Tribe fall to 4-9. The Terrapins now lead the all-time series between the two schools, 20-6.

Maryland's Courtney Hobbs and Kelly Coppedge were the story on the Terrapin attack, as the pair recorded nine and seven points, respectively. Hobbs notched a career-high six goals and three assists for a career-high nine points, while Coppedge added five scores and a pair of helpers to match her career-high point total of seven. The College had three players contribute a pair of goals, Colette Chaput, Meghan Schneider and Allison Evans.

The first 15 minutes of the contest were not indicative of what was to come, as the Tribe used five goals by five different players to forge out to an early lead. When Evans converted a slick feed from Chaput at 14:39, the College held a 5-3 edge and looked ready to make a serious challenge at recording an upset of one of nation's most storied programs.

But the game changed after Evans' goal, and a Maryland timeout. Starting with Hobbs' goal at the 16:06 mark, the Terrapins unleashed a 14-goal onslaught that spanned just 18 minutes of game time. By the time W&M freshman midfielder Morgan Watkins found the back of the net after a free position attempt at the 37:55 mark, the game score was at 17-6.

Over the game's final 30 minutes, the College actually played the Terrapins even on the scoreboard, as each side managed only six scores each, but the damage had already been done. Maryland made the most of its advantage in two crucial categories, draws (18-14) and caused turnovers (14-7), to control the pace of play during its game-breaking scoring run.

In addition to the career days by Hobbs and Coppedge, freshman Kristie Leggio had a hat trick and an assist while Meredith Egan and Sonia Judd each had a pair of goals and an assist.

J. HOPKINS 8

April 13

Homewood Field • Baltimore, Md.

BALTIMORE, Md. -- The Terrapins earned their second road win of the week, as they handed Johns Hopkins University a 13-8 defeat in front of 800 fans at Homewood Field.

With the win, Maryland head coach Cindy Timchal earned her 200th win at Maryland.

In the game, Maryland used a big run to take control of the game as it had earlier in the week against William & Mary and as it had almost a year ago in the last meeting with JHU. Hopkins jumped out to an early 1-0 lead, but the Terrapins scored the game's next eight goals to own an 8-1 lead with less than two minutes remaining in the first half. In that stretch, the Terps were paced by Sonia Judd and Courtney Hobbs -- who each had a pair of goals -- and Meredith Egan who notched a hat trick. Hopkins found the net twice in the final :37 of the half to cut the lead at intermission to five, but the damage had been done.

The Blue Jays continued to try and make a run at a comeback in the second half, scoring four of the first six goals after intermission, but the Terrapins were not to be denied.

With the score 10-7, Katie Robinson scored on an assist from Kelly Coppedge -- her career-high fourth of the day -- and that started a three-goal run for the Terps that salted the game away at 13-7 with under five minutes remaining.

Seniors Hobbs and Egan each paced Maryland in scoring with four goals with Hobbs adding a pair of assists and Egan adding one. Egan was a perfect 4-of-4 as she did not miss on a single shot she took all afternoon. Judd also finished with a hat trick on just five shots and added an assist for four points.

MARYLAND 15 VIRGINIA 12

April 19

Koskinen Field • Durham, N.C.

2002 ACC Tournament Semifinal

DURHAM, N.C. - Fourth-seeded and 12th-ranked Maryland received four goals apiece from Courtney Hobbs and Meredith Egan as the Terrapins defeated top-seeded and third-ranked Virginia, 15-12, in the semifinals of the 2002 ACC Women's Lacrosse Tournament at Koskinen Stadium in Durham, N.C.

The Terrapins, who avenged a 17-16 loss on March 12 to Virginia, improve to 9-6 on the season while the Cavaliers fall to 12-3. With the win, the Terrapins became the first number four seed ever to win a game in the ACC Tournament. They now advance to the finals for the fifth time in the last six seasons. The Terps have won all but one of the previous five ACC Tournament championships (1997, 1999, 2000 and 2001).

With the score tied 3-3, Maryland used a 5-0 run to close the first half and lead 8-3 at intermission. Egan tallied back-to-back goals while Hobbs, Kelly Coppedge and Sonia Judd also scored in the spurt.

Virginia scored three straight goals in the first four minutes of the second half to pull within 8-6 on a tally by Molly Cangemi, but the Terrapins responded with a 3-0 run of their own to go ahead 11-6 when Annie Collins scored an unassisted goal at the 21:56 mark.

After the Cavaliers scored a pair of goals to make the score 11-8, the two teams traded the final eight goals of the contest.

The Maryland defense allowed just one goal on three shots by Lauren Aumiller, who entered the contest with an NCAA-leading 54 goals on the season. Terrapin goalkeeper Alexis Venechanos was credited with 11 saves on the afternoon while her counterpart, Andrea Pfeiffer, made 14 saves.

Collins added three goals on the day for the Terrapins while Acacia Walker dished out a career-high four assists. For Virginia, Cary Chasney registered four goals and one assist and Caitlin Banks added three goals and one assist.

April 21

Koskinen Field • Durham, N.C.

2002 ACC Tournament Final

DURHAM, N.C. - For the first time in school history, the second-seeded and fourth ranked North Carolina women's lacrosse team won the ACC Championship with an 11-10 victory over fourth-seeded and 12th-ranked Maryland in Durham, N.C.

The Tar Heels were led by ACC Player of the Year Christine McPike, who tied a career-high with five goals on the afternoon. In the two ACC Tournament games, McPike scored seven goals and was named ACC Tournament Most Valuable Player (MVP).

North Carolina put the first points on the board in the first minute of the game as Lindsay Stone scored her 36 goal of the season. Maryland would connect on two of the next three goals and the match remained tied 2-2 until North Carolina sophomore Rachel Szakmary registered her first goal of the season and her second career goal at the 8:32 mark.

The Tar Heels would never trail the rest of the way as North Carolina scored five goals in a row to take a 7-2 lead with less than four minutes remaining in the first half. Maryland's Kelly Coppedge and Kristie Leggio each posted goals prior to halftime, but with 10 seconds remaining North Carolina's Erin McInnes connected on her 27 goal of the season with two seconds left to give the Tar Heels an 8-4 halftime advantage.

PRINCETON 13 MARYLAND 9

April 24

Class of '52 Stadium • Princeton, N.J.

PRINCETON, N.J. -- The Terps put up quite a fight against the top-ranked Princeton Tigers, but the Terps fell short, 13-9, at Class of 1952 Stadium in Princeton.

The Terrapins jumped all over the Tigers early, opening scoring with a Courtney Hobbs goal just :45 into the game and then continued an onslaught that would have the crowd sitting on its hands early on Senior Night at Princeton. Maryland got two goals apiece out of Hobbs and Sonia Judd while Annie Collins chipped in another and with just 10 minutes remaining in the first half, the Terps owned a 5-0 lead on the nation's number one team.

To its credit, however, Princeton did not give up. The Tigers stormed back, running off four goals before Collins scored her second of the half, then added three more and actually held a surprising 7-6 lead at intermission after Kim Smith found the back of the net on a free position shot with :14 left in the half. Tiger star Lauren Simone paced the attack in the comeback with two goals and a pair of assists.

The Terrapins bounced back quickly as the second half opened with a pair of goals by freshman Acacia Walker in the first 10 minutes. Charlotte Kenworthy scored for Princeton to tie the game back up, but Judd answered less than 20 seconds later to give the Terps a leg up again at 9-8. The lead at 40:12 would be Maryland's last of the night.

Princeton scored with 11:14 and 7:10 left to take a one-goal lead and play went back and forth with the game still in question. The Tigers were able to salt the game away late, however, as Simone rattled the cage twice and Mimi Hammerburg once in the last three-and-a-half minutes and Princeton would come away with a 13-9 win.

LOYOLA 7 MARYLAND 4

April 27

Curley Field • Baltimore, Md.

BALTIMORE, Md. -- The University of Maryland women's lacrosse team fell back to the .500 mark with a 7-4 loss at Loyola College. The Terrapins put up one of their top defensive efforts of 2002, limiting Loyola to just 21 shots while Alexis Venechanos had her second straight strong outing of the season, but the Terps could not muster enough offense for the win.

Loyola opened scoring in the game as it found the net twice in the game's first five minutes. From that point on, a theme would seem to establish itself.

Meredith Egan scored Maryland's first goal of the day with 23:58 remaining in the first half to cut the Greyhound lead back to one. Loyola answered to send the deficit back to two. Sonia Judd then rattled the cage with 3:56 left in the half and the lead was back down to one at intermission.

The remainder of the game went that way -- with Loyola pushing its lead to two and Maryland cutting it back to one -- until under eight minutes remained. With 7:34 left in the contest, Stacey Morlang (the game's top scorer with four points) scored for Loyola to push the score to 6-4. Suzanne Eyler later found the net with under three minutes left and the defensive battle, and a win for the Greyhounds, was put on ice.

Maryland's top player was junior goalie Alexis Venechanos who finished the game with 11 saves on 21 Loyola shots. It was Venechanos' second strong effort after she posted a career-high tying 14 saves against Princeton earlier in the week.

Offensively, Egan led all Terrapin scorers with a pair of goals. Judd and Courtney Hobbs each scored the other goals while Kristie Leggio added the Terps' lone assist on the afternoon.

Ludwig Field • College Park, Md.

COLLEGE PARK, Md. - Maryland ended its regular season on a positive note, beating No. 20 George Mason University, 18-6, at Ludwig Field. The seventh-ranked Terrapins finish their 2002 regular season with a 10-9 record (0-3 ACC) while the Patriots move to 9-9 overall (4-4 CAA).

In the win, which served as one of Maryland's most complete efforts of the season, senior Courtney Hobbs led all scorers with seven points (three goals, four assists). The three goals gives her 145 for her career, a total that moves her into the 10th spot on the all-time Maryland list. Her seven points moved her over the 200 mark for her career and also into 10th on the all-time Terp chart.

Mason got on the board first in the game, as Jill Toomey scored just :58 in. That would be the last lead the Patriots would own. The Terps scored the next five goals and 11 of the next 13 of the half to head to intermission up, 11-4. In the half, Kelly Coppedge and Annie Collins each netted three goals.

The second half began with a Hobbs goal a minute-and-a-half in, and after Mason answered with a Kristy Manas goal, the rout was back on. The Terrapins scored six of the game's final seven goals for the eventual 18-6 final.

Individually, Coppedge led all goal scorers with five and one assist to fall just behind Hobbs' game-high seven points. Freshman Acacia Walker also chipped in five points behind a career-high tying four assists. In her final game at Ludwig, Katie Robinson notched a hat trick -- including one of the prettiest goals of the night on a no-look backhand that went top shelf -- and a career-high in goals. Collins also had a hat trick while Sonia Judd scored a pair of goals and added an assist.

2002 NCAA FIRST ROUND

BALTIMORE – Courtney Hobbs and Sonia Judd each recorded three goals as seven-time defending National Champion Maryland defeated Loyola, 13-8, in the first round of the 2002 NCAA Division I women's lacrosse tournament held at Curley Field.

Five different Terrapins scored within the first 11 minutes of play en route to an 8-3 Maryland lead at the half. Kristie Leggio fired a shot past goalkeeper Tricia Dabrowski at the 26:50 mark, which was followed by a Meredith Egan free-position goal 48 seconds later. Annie Collins took a feed from Kelly Coppedge to increase the Terrapins lead by three at 22:59. Judd and Coppedge followed to give the Terps a 5-0 lead at the 19:41 mark. Rachel Shuck defeated two defenders behind the cage to score Loyola's first goal of the game at 18:30, which was followed by a Stacey Morlang free-position goal three minutes later. However, Maryland converted three more goals ending with a Hobbs score 29 seconds remaining in the half.

Loyola came out strong in the second half as Suzanne Eyler fired an unassisted shot past Alexis Venchanos to cut the Terps lead by four at 26:04. Morlang followed with a free-position goal at 23:50 to put the Greyhounds within three. However, Coppedge answered off a fast-break to give the Terps a 9-5 lead at 15:55. Loyola gained possession off the draw as Jaclyn Borrone found Stephanie Walker who fired a behind-the-back goal to put the Greyhounds within three again at 13:19. The Terps, however, capitalized off of Loyola's turnovers and missed shots and recorded four more goals to gain a 13-8 victory over Loyola and advance to the NCAA quarterfinals.

Less than two weeks ago, on April 27, Loyola defeated the Terrapins at Curley Field by a 7-4 score for just the second win over Maryland in program history. Loyola's defense, which is ranked first in the nation, held Maryland to just four goals, the fewest the Terps have seen since May 18, 1991 against New Hampshire. The Greyhounds' first win against the Terps came in 1997, when Loyola broke Maryland's NCAA-record 50-game winning streak. However, Maryland came back to defeat Loyola, 8-7, in the championship game of the NCAA tournament that same season.

On the day, the Terps became the only road and lower seeded team to score a victory in the NCAA's first round.

2002 NCAA QUARTERFINAL

ITHACA, N.Y. - The University of Maryland women's lacrosse team fell, 14-4, to the Cornell Big Red in NCAA Quarterfinal action at Ithica. The Terrapins season ended with an 11-10 record and hopes dashed of an eighth-straight NCAA title.

Senior Jaimee Reynolds found the net seven times and added two assists as the Big Red advanced to its first-ever women's lacrosse Final Four. With the win, Cornell improves to 16-1 overall, while Maryland ends its season after taking its first double-figure loss since dropping a 13-2 decision to Penn State on April 27, 1976.

Reynolds, who added eight ground balls and a caused turnover to the cause, broke the school's single-season scoring total with 72 points. She also became the first Cornell player to surpass the 200-point mark with 202 points. Her seven goals also tied for second in NCAA tournament history.

The Terrapins, who had advanced to 12-straight Final Fours prior to 2002, got two goals from freshman Kristie Leggio. Season leading scorer Courtney Hobbs had a goal while Sonia Judd added the other. Alexis Venechanos saved 11 shots while playing all 60 minutes for the Terps.

ATLANTIC COAST CONFERENCE

2003 NCAA TOURNAMENT

Syracuse University will host the 22nd annual NCAA Division I Women's Lacrosse Championship, May 16-18, 2002. The semifinals and championship games of the 16-team NCAA Tournament will be held at the Carrier Dome in Syracuse. Tickets for the 2003 NCAA Division I women's lacrosse championships are now on sale. Syracuse University and the Carrier Dome are hosting the women's semifinals and final, May 16-18. SU is hosting the 2003 NCAA Division I Women's Lacrosse Championship on May 16 and 18, and two 2003 NCAA Division I Men's Lacrosse Quarterfinal games on May 17, in the Carrier Dome. There are three ticket packages available for the weekend of lacrosse:

Tickets are available from the Carrier Dome Ticket Office (315-443-2121, or 888-DOME-TIX). The ticket office is open 8:30 a.m. - 4:30 p.m., Monday-Friday. Tickets are also available on line: www.dometix.com

Eight first-round games will be conducted May 8, and four quarterfinal games will be played May 11. Winners of the four quarterfinal games will advance to the semifinals and finals May 16-18. All games, except the semifinals and finals, will be played on the campuses of competing institutions. The first game of the NCAA semifinal round will be held May 16 at 6:30 p.m. with the second game to follow at 8:00 p.m. The championship game will be held on Sunday, May 18 at 1 p.m.

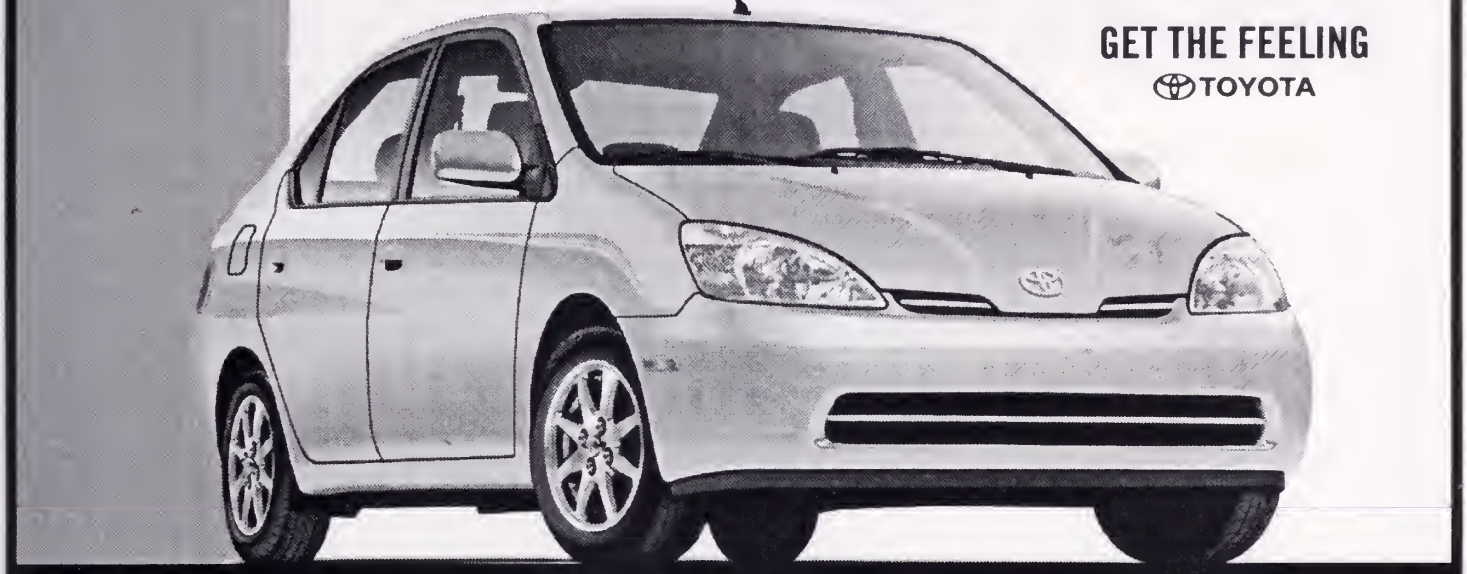
LEAD THE WAY TO A CLEANER PLANET.



TOYOTA PRIUS

Toyota's hybrid gas-electric Prius is very clean running – up to 90% fewer smog forming emissions.

New technology from Toyota combines gas and electric power to achieve super low emissions results and exceptional fuel economy – 52 city/45 highway*. Toyota Prius runs on electric power and uses a very efficient gasoline engine when additional power is needed and to recharge the electric batteries. Prius never needs to be plugged in. There's also an advanced constant velocity transmission (no gears). So imagine this...as you approach a stop light and apply the brakes, Prius captures the energy used in braking to recharge the batteries (no waste); as you come to a full stop, the engine stops running; when the light changes, Prius uses electric energy applied thru the gearless CVT transmission to silently and smoothly move forward...the gas engine is there if you need additional power...and there's a display module so you will always know which power sources are being used.

Prius is the future for personal transportation, and it's at your Toyota dealer now!

University of MARYLAND

"STRIVE FOR CLARITY, BUT ACCEPT AND UNDERSTAND AMBIGUITY."

That phrase captures one way in which an educated person approaches the world and its challenges. Students who graduate from the University of Maryland have been exposed to the tools that allow them to put that perspective to work. Imparting such a perspective may be an ambitious project for undergraduate education, but to aim for anything less would be unworthy of a great university's goals for its students. Fourteen years ago, Promises to Keep, a plan for undergraduate education at Maryland, articulated those goals so eloquently we repeat them here.

Undergraduate education at Maryland "aims to provide students with a sense of identity and purpose, a concern for others, a sense of responsibility for the quality of life around them, a continuing eagerness for knowledge and understanding, and a foundation for a lifetime of personal enrichment."

As we learn with and from one another, we try to "develop human values," "celebrate tolerance and fairness," "contribute to the social conscience," "monitor and assess private and collective assumptions," and "recognize the glory, tragedy and humor of the human condition." Your years at the University of Maryland can provide you with all the tools you need to accomplish these goals. Students here are "educated to be able to read with perception and pleasure, write and speak with clarity and verve, handle numbers and computation proficiently, reason mathematically, generate clear questions and find probable arguments, reach substantiated conclusions, and accept ambiguity."

And we also hope you enjoy the journey.

About the UNIVERSITY

The Campus

By virtually every measure of quality, the University of Maryland has gained national recognition as one of the fastest rising comprehensive research institutions in the country. The momentum of recent years has poised the university to move it into the top ranks of higher education and take leadership in shaping the research university of the 21st century.

The university has enjoyed a decade of momentum in all of the areas that affect quality, beginning with the quality of our students. For more than 10 years, every freshman class has been the most talented in the university's history, including this year's. Not only are their grade-point averages and SAT scores stellar, about half of them finished in the top 10 percent of their high school graduating class.

But Maryland students excel in more ways than just the classroom. They are leaders in the arts and culture, community service, civic engagement and athletics.

What's more, the student body is a model of diversity, with minorities making up more than 32 percent of all students, and at least one graduate and undergraduate student from every state in the nation.

The university has 65 graduate and undergraduate programs ranked in the Top 25 by U.S. News and World Report, up from just one program in 1991.

Sponsored research and outreach has nearly tripled in the same 10-year period, reaching $308.5 million for FY 01. Private giving has increased even more dramatically, from $17 million to $77 million in FY01. Alumni Association membership has been growing at an average rate of 10 percent a year since 1992.

One of the largest research universities in the United States, current enrollment stands at 25,099 undergraduate and 9,061 graduate. There are 94 undergraduate programs, 89 master's programs, 70 doctoral programs, and one first professional degree program. More than 100 centers and institutes are engaged in research and outreach.

Faculty at the University of Maryland, in all fields of knowledge, are engaged at the highest levels of national and international concern. The university's location near the center of federal policy-making and international political and economic activity enables it to play an active role in research and analysis of public policy.

Maryland is one of 30 public universities in the prestigious 63-member Association of American Universities and the only public institution in the Maryland-D.C. area with membership in the nation's most distinguished honor society, Phi Beta Kappa.

Libraries

Seven libraries make up the University of Maryland library system: McKeldin (main) Library, Architecture Library, Art Library, Engineering and Physical Sciences Library, Hornbake Library, Performing Arts Library, White Memorial (Chemistry) Library.

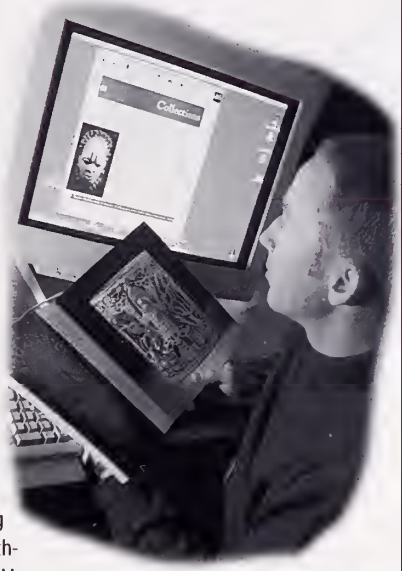
These libraries constitute the largest university research library institution in the Washington metropolitan area, providing vital resources to researchers, visiting scholars, and businesses throughout the region. The libraries' holdings include more than 2.5 million volumes, 24,000 subscriptions to periodicals and nearly 5 million items available in microfilm format.

Research

Opportunities for conducting research abound at the University of Maryland, College Park, and in the surrounding area, both for faculty to advance their own expertise and bring their insights into the classroom, and for students to begin their exploration of their special interests with practical experience. On campus, special facilities and a number of organized research centers, bureaus, and institutes promote the acquisition and analysis of new knowledge in the arts, sciences and applied fields.

The university's enviable location — just nine miles from downtown Washington, D.C., and approximately 30 miles from both Baltimore and Annapolis — enhances the research of its faculty and students by providing access to some of the finest libraries and research centers in the country.

Service



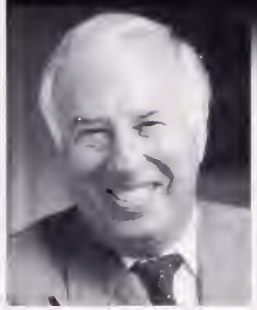
Programs of public service are central to the overall mission of the university. The philosophy is reflected in the wide array of programs and initiatives that benefit the state's business, agriculture and education communities.

With more than 90 high technology firms in the three-county area of Montgomery, Prince George's and Frederick counties, the university has found abundant opportunity to extend its business and technology outreach programs to the region. Many of these programs are part of the Engineering Research Center, which operates the Technology Advancement Program and the Maryland Industrial Partnerships, programs designed to provide Maryland entrepreneurs and small businesses with research facilities, technical assistance, administrative support, and access to technology that will advance their economic base.

The Institute for Systems Research has formed partnerships with major corporations, including Lockheed Martin, Westinghouse, BF Goodrich, Hughes Aircraft and Dupont to apply advanced systems research to solving industry problems in the fields of communications, manufacturing, controls and robotics.

The university last year opened the Clarice Smith Performing Arts Center, with its six state-of-the art performance halls, which has quickly become a center of cultural programming in the Washington metropolitan area. The university also boasts four art galleries and a broad range of public art throughout the beautiful campus. Additionally intercollegiate, club and intramural sports provide students of all levels an opportunity to participate as spectators or athletes.

C.D. MOTE JR.



University President
Fifth Year at Maryland
California '59

When C.D. "Dan" Mote Jr. became the 19th president of the University of Maryland on Sept. 1, 1998 he proclaimed it a university "on the move." Four years later, under his guidance, Maryland continues to move – at an ever accelerating rate – on the field, in the classroom, in the community, and in the world.

The University of Maryland is the state of Maryland's most important asset, says Mote: "The future of the state depends on this university."

Fulfilling that responsibility is a big job, but it's a role that Mote is accustomed to, having spent his entire academic career at the University of California at Berkeley, where he earned all his degrees, taught engineering and eventually became vice chancellor for University Relations before coming to Maryland.

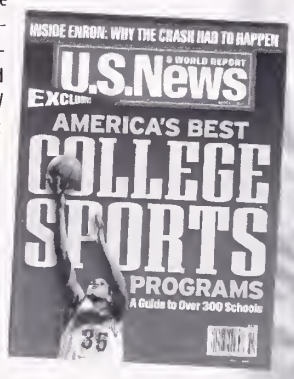
One of Mote's first tasks here was to serve on a governor's task force to examine the funding and organization of the University System of Maryland. The task force recommended, and the General Assembly enacted into law, a reaffirmation of the university's flagship status and a commitment to funding at levels comparable to the best public universities in the nation.

As president, Mote is committed to making that asset even greater by creating a culture of excellence and civility across the campus, continuing to emphasize the highest quality education for students, strengthening the university's internal and external connections, and achieving distinction as an institution where discovery takes place every day and everywhere.

The university's progress in each of these areas can be measured by the quality of its programs; the stature of its faculty; the talent of its students; partnerships with business; impact on the state's economy; its ability to apply discoveries to global, national and regional problems; and its world-class, state-of-the-art facilities.

Quality Programs

Over the past decade, Maryland's programs have been improving by leaps and bounds. We currently have 65 graduate and undergraduate programs ranked in the top 25 nationally by U.S. News & World Report, compared with just one program a decade ago.



While the university's academic successes are across the board, it has emerged as a true powerhouse in business, computer science, earth sciences, engineering, education and journalism. The Robert H. Smith School of Business has achieved top 10 rankings from such beacon publications as the Financial Times of London and the Wall Street Journal. Every department in the College of Education has programs ranked in the U.S. News top 25, and the Counseling and Personnel Services Program has long been ranked tops in the nation.

Faculty Stature

With the addition during Mote's third year of a Nobel Laureate in Physics and three more Pulitzer Prize winners (to join three already on the faculty), Maryland continues to attract the best faculty available. More than 30 faculty are members of the national academies in their fields, the highest professional recognition attainable.

Experts on the Maryland faculty are regularly sought by the news media for their views on a wide variety of issues, including politics, international affairs, social trends, economics, the environment, science and technology.

Talented Students

Over the past 10 years, it has become a virtual cliché to announce that each year's new freshman class is the most talented ever. The average GPA of entering students in fall 2002 is expected to exceed 3.90, while the average SAT score is nearly 1300.

Not surprisingly, the number of students enrolling in honors and other special programs has also skyrocketed in recent years. As many as 40 percent of all new freshmen are now enrolled in such programs as Honors, Gemstone, College Park Scholars and other living-learning communities that bring together students with similar academic interests in a residential setting.

Deborah A. YOW

Athletics Director
Ninth Year at Maryland
Elon '74

Deborah A. Yow is in the ninth year of her outstanding tenure as director of athletics at the University of Maryland, a year that has seen unprecedented success and achievement in Maryland athletics. Each year has brought about continued improvement and accomplishment in Terrapin athletics. In Yow's eight years at Maryland, the Terrapins have won a remarkable nine NCAA national championships as Maryland athletics has soared to new heights.

The comprehensive success of Terrapin athletics under Debbie Yow's leadership is a clear and compelling testimony of her values of excellence, teamwork and accountability.

Likewise, her election to the presidency of the National Association of Collegiate Directors of Athletics two years ago is an indication of the wide respect with which she is regarded among its 6,100 members representing 1,600 colleges in the U.S. and Canada. She was recently singled out by Street and Smith Sports Business Journal as one of the leading administrators in the U.S. and she received the Carl Maddox Sport Management Award presented by the United States Sports Academy for excellence in athletics administration.

Yow, who recently served on the NCAA Management Council and the NCAA Division I Budget Committee, is a strong and steady voice on behalf of intercollegiate athletics in America. Since taking over as AD at Maryland in 1994, she and her staff have:

- Transformed Terrapin athletics into a responsive, goal-oriented organization.
- Balanced all eight of the annual department's budgets (the first balanced budgets in the 10 years prior to her arrival). The budget has now reached $40 million annually and the sizable prior operating debts have been eradicated.
- Greatly enhanced the academic support services provided for student-athletes, with an enviable exhausted eligibility graduation rate of approximately 85 percent.
- Led the Terrapins to a national all-sports ranking in the upper 15 percent of all NCAA Division I institutions.
- Significantly expanded marketing and fund-raising efforts on behalf of Terrapin athletics. As a result, private gifts to athletics have increased 240 percent and corporate sponsorship revenues have increased by 275 percent during her tenure at Maryland.
- Continued to dramatically improve venues and facilities for the department's 25 teams.
- Implemented a strategic management model.
- Developed a comprehensive Internet strategy with management, marketing and fund-raising applications.
- Significantly improved customer care in every area.

The most recent achievements of Maryland athletics are exceptional:

- Selected in 2002 by U.S. News & World Report as one of the Top 20 athletic programs in the nation (for overall quality and competitive excellence).
- In men's basketball, won the ACC regular season in 2002, as well as the NCAA national championship. In football, won the Atlantic Coast Conference championship and played in the 2002 Orange Bowl. The Terps are among only a few NCAA institutions to have achieved at this distinguished level in these sports in the same year.
- Hired the Associated Press National Coach of the Year, Brenda Frese, as the new women's basketball coach.
- Hired Dave Cottle, the third winningest active men's lacrosse coach in the U.S.
- Field hockey played for the national championship in 2001.
- Women's lacrosse has continued its winning ways and won seven consecutive national championships through 2001.
- Enhancing football facilities significantly with Team House and practice field upgrades.
- Moved into the new $125 million Comcast Center.
- The athletics budget was balanced for the eighth consecutive year.
- In 2001-02 10 Maryland teams competed in NCAA postseason play.
- The productivity, morale, and the competitive and academic achievement of Terrapin athletics are exceptional and continue to gain momentum.

Regarding the many achievements of Terrapin athletics over the past eight years, Yow says, "We are pleased, but we are not satisfied ... our vision is to be one of the top 10 programs in the nation consistently ... we see no reason to settle for less."

Yow is known for her goal-oriented and proactive management style. She consistently inspires and challenges those around her to "raise our sights and sharpen our tools ... to work hard and work smart ... to recognize that our only limitations are those that we place upon ourselves."

As a manager and a leader, she clearly models these principles. She is the only known current AD in NCAA Division I who has hired both the National Coach of the Year in football (while at Maryland) and the National Coach of the Year in men's basketball (while at Saint Louis University). Yow is known as "a coach's AD," while also being a highly organized, strategic and proactive leader and administrator. Quite simply, Debbie Yow personifies the relational and management dynamics that are necessary to be an excellent administrator.

A successful former coach at the University of Kentucky and at the University of Florida, she moved into athletics administration at the University of Florida and the University of North Carolina, Greensboro, followed by a highly successful tenure as AD at Saint Louis University.

She has authored numerous articles and books on athletics management and human behavior, and is a respected leader in intercollegiate athletics in the United States.

Summing up the entire athletics program, Dr. Yow recently observed, "We have the finest student-athletes, coaches, support staff and administrative team in America. It is because of their courage, hard work and cooperative spirit that we now have a strong, viable athletic program. I am immensely proud of each of them. I am equally proud of our Terrapin fans who buy tickets, our Terrapin Club members who faithfully support the Maryland athletic program with their donations for scholarships, and the Maryland Educational Foundation and M Club members who serve and give liberally. We have a great Terrapin family. That's the foundation for all of our success ... and the basis for our bright future."

Dave HAGLUND

Women's Lacrosse Supervisor

Assoc. Athletics Director
Sixth Year at Maryland
Oregon State '81

Dave Haglund joined the University of Maryland athletic staff in January of 1998 following a 16-year career in the sports information office at Fresno State University. At Maryland he serves as the administrative head of the Terrapins' media relations unit, overseeing the development and implementation of initiatives to provide publicity for the university's 25 varsity sports and more than 600 student-athletes.

He was elevated to associate athletics director in February 1999, and also serves as sports supervisor for gymnastics, women's lacrosse and men's golf.

A 1981 graduate of Oregon State University, Haglund began his sports information career as an assistant SID at Fresno State in 1981 and was elevated to sports information director in 1996. During the course of his career at Fresno State, he served as the primary contact person for the Bulldogs' nationally ranked Division I football, basketball, baseball and soccer programs. He also served as information director of the California Bowl (1982-83) for two years.

Haglund and his wife, Cindy, are the parents of two children: Samantha (9) and Matthew (7).

Academic Support & CAREER DEVELOPMENT

The University of Maryland is committed to providing the highest quality education to all of its students. The Department of Intercollegiate Athletics strives to provide student-athletes excellent opportunities to participate in an intercollegiate athletics program of the highest quality, with the result that their athletics participation becomes an integral and valued component of their total educational experience at the university.

Terrapin student-athletes will find that the same hard work and discipline that has earned them success in athletics competition is also required in the classroom. Balancing the significant time demands and responsibilities required to be a successful student-athlete at the highest collegiate level is no small task. Therefore, as a result of their commitment to representing the university through athletics, Terrapin student-athletes are able to utilize support programs designed to meet their specific needs.

Led by associate athletics director Robert Koonce, the mission of the Academic Support and Career Development Unit (ASCDU) is to provide quality developmental programs and need-based services that will enhance academic progress, facilitate career development, and encourage the psychosocial growth of all UM student-athletes. Heather Arianna (right) serves as the Academic Support Director for the lacrosse team at Maryland.

The Gossett Academic Support and Career Development Center for Terrapin student-athletes, named for long-time Terp supporters Barry and Mary Gossett, is located in the Comcast Center. It features a study center that includes 25 desktop computers, a tutoring center, a classroom, a CHAMPS/Life Skills resource room and individual offices for seven professional academic counselors, an assistant program coordinator and two graduate assistants.

Student-Athlete Advisory Committee

The Student-Athlete Advisory Committtee (S.A.A.C.) plays an important role in the Department of Intercollegiate Athletics. It consists of two representatives from each varsity sport and meets on a regular basis with representatives from the athletic administration. The S.A.A.C. mission is to enhance the total student-athlete experience by developing leadership skills, promoting student-athlete welfare and fostering a positive student-athlete image on the Maryland campus, local area and nationally.

CHAMPS/Life Skills Programs

ASCDU houses the NCAA's Challenging Athletes' Minds for Personal Success Program (C.H.A.M.P.S.) and the NCAA Life Skills Program. The ASCDU staff, in collaboration with various other Department of Intercollegiate Athletics' units and campus resources, strives to provide a systematic personal development program designed to reach each student-athlete based on his or her individual needs. The focus of the program is on the individual academically, athletically and emotionally, and on the changing needs and skills of that individual in the years during college and after graduation. The menu of presentations, workshops and seminars is a comprehensive and balanced system of "life learning" programs promoted for use by each varsity sport team.

Highlights of the CHAMPS/Life Skills Programs:

- Support efforts of every student-athlete toward intellectual development and graduation
- Use athletics as preparation for success in life
- Meet the changing needs of student-athletes
- Promote respect for diversity among student-athletes
- Enhance interpersonal relationships in the lives of student-athletes
- Assist student-athletes in building positive self-esteem
- Enable student-athletes to make meaningful contributions to their communities
- Promote ownership by the student-athletes of their academic, athletic, personal and social responsibilities
- Enhance partnerships between the NCAA, member institutions and their communities for the purpose of education
- Encourage the development of leadership skills

CHAMPS/Life Skills Programs Statements

Commitment to Academic Excellence

To support the academic progress of the student-athlete toward intellectual development and graduation. At Maryland, ASCDU offers a variety of programs and services including: prospective student-athlete orientation, academic counseling, NCAA academic eligibility monitoring, academic enrichment and career development presentations and workshops, accredited tutorial support, individualized learning program, in addition to the following academic courses: EDCP 108-K (college learning strategies and skills), EDCP 108-M (math learning strategies and skills), and UNIV 100/101 (first-year transitions to the university).

Commitment to Athletic Excellence

To build philosophical foundations for the development of athletic programs that are broad-based, equitable and dedicated to the well-being of the student-athlete. ASCDU hosts the spirit games that bring together student-athletes from various teams to support fellow student-athletes at home events.

Commitment to Personal Development

To support the development of a well-balanced lifestyle for student-athletes, encouraging the emotional well-being, personal growth and decision making skills. ASCDU sponsors workshops and seminars that address issues pertinent to the student-athlete, including the HERO Campaign.

Commitment to Career Development

To encourage the student-athlete to develop and pursue career and life goals. The Maryland Gameplan directory is produced annually in collaboration with the M Club. It is intended to assist graduating Terrapin student-athletes as they begin the job search process and is distributed to more than 800 corporations and businesses across the country. Prospective employers are introduced to our graduating student-athletes with resume information relative to academic, career and personal achievements.

Strength & CONDITIONING

Collegiate lacrosse has evolved to the point where total physical preparation is necessary to successfully compete on the Division I level. It has become extremely important to strength and conditioning coach Barry Kagan (right) that all of the Terrapin athletes are prepared through training to maximize their athletic development in terms of strength and conditioning. The high level of dedication by the members of the lacrosse team has brought about spectacular achievements in the weight room and in competition.

The objective of the strength and conditioning program for lacrosse is based on the enhancement of performance as well as the prevention of injuries. Fitzgerald makes every attempt to accommodate the different training needs of each individual athlete.

The preparation of a student-athlete to compete in lacrosse goes beyond strength and power training in the weight room. Speed improvement, flexibility, plyometrics, nutrition, agility and conditioning are also important ingredients in the preparation of the lacrosse team here at Maryland. The strength and conditioning staff puts a great emphasis on improving the quickness of the Terps through increased mechanical efficiency and the improvement of acceleration of maximum velocity.

Media Guidelines

Credentials: Media and photographer credentials for events at Maryland's Ludwig Field may be obtained by working press, radio and television by writing or calling Greg Creese in the Maryland Athletic Media Relations Office, 2725 Comcast Center, College Park, MD 20741-0295. All requests should be submitted at least 48 hours prior to the event by phoning the Media Relations Office at (301) 314-7062. Since space is limited, accommodations are on a priority basis: daily newspapers and wire services, originating radio and television stations, national weekly or monthly publications, electronic media outlets, local and regional television crews. Priority is granted to members of the media who cover Maryland athletics on a regular basis, and to visiting media members. Photo passes will be issued only to accredited photographers on assignment.

Services: The Media Relations Office will provide complete statistics at the conclusion of every home game. Programs containing rosters and event notes on each team will be provided for the working media.

Fax Machine: The Media Relations Office has one facsimile machine, located in Room 2725 of Comcast Center. The fax number is (301) 314-9094.

Scores on your cell phone: Maryland fans can now get score updates sent directly to their cell phones! Just go to any schedule page at www.umterps.com to sign up for the service.

Terps on the Web: For up-to-date game stories, statistics, schedules and results, and other Maryland athletic department information, please locate www.umterps.com on the Internet.
